

22nd November 2007

Ashton Barnes Tee Noted for Specialist Expertise in Latest Chambers Guide

The latest edition of a highly regarded legal publication has highlighted the specialist work of Guernsey law firm Ashton Barnes Tee.

The Chambers UK 2008 Guide, published this month, has identified Raymond Ashton and Nick Barnes, both partners at the firm, as consistently providing a high quality service in their respective practice areas.

Raymond Ashton was included in 'Band 1' of the Guernsey Corporate and Finance section, noting that he is 'well regarded in Guernsey'. It commented that he is 'particularly favoured for his expertise in trusts matters', pointing in particular to his 'international tax knowledge' and 'fantastic response times'.

In addition, Nick Barnes was included in the Offshore Dispute Resolution section. It commented on his wealth of experience in Guernsey anti-money laundering, asset tracing, trust and banking litigation matters and referred to his 'self-effacing manner' and 'careful, diligent, resourceful and well connected' approach to his work. In particular, the publication highlighted his role in acting on the successful appeal from the Court of the Seneschal of Sark to the Royal Court of Guernsey in a leasehold dispute.

The Chambers Guide 2008 is compiled through objective research, which is carried out on an annual basis by the team of researchers at Chambers Global. Based on interviews and comments from a wide range of lawyers and clients, the Guide provides a comprehensive resource for identifying key service providers in different practice areas and geographical locations.

Clare Tee, Partner at Ashton Barnes Tee, commented:

"The reputation of Ashton Barnes Tee continues to grow and the expertise of the firm is increasingly being recognised. Although the firm was only established in March 2006, it has received praise from a number of different quarters. It is extremely pleasing that the latest Chambers guide maintains these positive comments, reflecting the high quality specialist service it provides in the Guernsey marketplace."

Ends.

For further information, please contact Adam Riddell at Crystal Public Relation on tel. +44 (0) 1534 639505 or e-mail adam@crystalpr.co.uk