

Office Extension for Guernsey Law Firm Ashton Barnes Tee

Guernsey law firm Ashton Barnes Tee has benefited from an extension to its offices, as the firm looks to continue its plans for expansion in terms of office space and personnel.

Renovation and construction work at Old Crown Office, Ann's Place, has been completed recently and offers the firm a great deal more space, including a new boardroom and an improved reception area.

Clare Tee, Partner at Ashton Barnes Tee, said:

“Ashton Barnes Tee is a relatively young law firm, having been established in March 2006. The extension will give us a good basis on which to build and grow over the coming months and years.”

The firm currently specialises in the practice areas of civil and commercial litigation, trust and private client, local and international taxation, contentious and non-contentious employment law, conveyancing and property.

Earlier this year, the firm appointed Advocate Thomas Crawford in order to enhance its litigation and employment law capabilities.

Ends.
